To Be the Master of Play

Look...Listen...Learn...Laugh...Love...&...Let Go

LOOK: become the observer of life and those in it. See the games being played, detach from the outcome and step out of the line of play so you can...

LISTEN: listen from instinct, intuition and insight for the keys, patterns and play. Determine your past part in the play and choose to stay in it or change and...

LEARN: when you learn from the patterns you can choose to create a new play, you can change your role in the play & embrace a new & bigger world...then...

LAUGH: you can laugh at the lesson as it unfolds. Laugh at the pattern and power play in force. Laugh at the simplicity & as you begin to understand your past role – you will become the producer, director and performer in a new play of your choice...then...

LOVE: you can love the lesson and those who gave part of their journey to play it out for you so you can...

LET GO: let go of the pattern. Let your new awareness become part of the very cells of your being. Empty your mind, body & energy field of the old pattern of play, the old negative energy and embrace the new. Open yourself to the next level of the game.
